Credit for our Resources

As a general thing we are not disposed to grumble when some penny a liner of the California journals omits to give our Northern country credit for its resources, because in all States there may be found men incapable of magnanimity, and California is no exception A persistent course, however, such as is pursued by the San Francisco Bulletin of ignoring the claims of every section outside of California to the least commercial consideration, is not only contemptible per se, but is a slander upon the generous character of Californians as a people The Golden State possesses magnificent resources within herself, and is not in any degree dependent upon the services of any portion of her press to bolster up her credit at the expense of another and comparatively undeveloped section We are satisfied that our California neighbors understand the relations existing between themselves and us better than to desire to build up a population in their own political jurisdiction in opposition to us, when they by direct importations and the possession of unlimited capital are our bankers and shippers, and while they thus derive more benefit from supplying a population in Oregon than they would an equal number in the interior of their own State. The vast amount of gold arriving in San Francisco from the North loses its identity among the operations there, and all that goes East is accredited to California. We contend that not more than one half the gross receipts of treasure from the Columbia river and its adjacent country is ever credited to us, because not more than that proportion is reported here, it being conveyed in private hands as far as the Bay City, when it goes into the Mint or is thence transmitted East through a public and safer medium. A circumstance came to our knowledge only yesterday, which illustrates this It is customary for the pursers of steamships to take charge, if requested, of any small amounts in the hands of passengers, say from $100 to $1,000, put them in his safe and charge nothing for the favor. On the last trip down of the Pacific, shortly after she left the wharf in Portland, a passenger applied to Purser Poole to take charge of a small package of dust, and having obtained a promise, returned to his state-room, and aided by a companion, soon made his appearance with a sack weighing nearly two hundred pounds, and valued at $32 000 Mr Poole very properly refused to take and receipt for the "little parcel," unless it was entered in the freight list, and paid freight The owner refused to pay for its safe transportation, and it remained in his custody and was unreported at San Francisco. Another man on behalf of four different firms, took down on the John L Stephens in his private charge the sum of $65,000, for which, it being strictly private, no credit was given in San Francisco. We deprecate these acts of violating usage, discouraging enterprise, and detracting from the credit of the country and cite them here simply to show that California is the gainer, even while giving Oregon credit every time an absolute knowledge of facts justify and demand it

Fourth of July —While our fellow-citizens are to day in the full enjoyment of this Anniversary of the Nation's birth, surrounded by and participating in the jubilations of a free people—while the cannon's boom brings joy to us, let us remember that our brothers to day are marching up to the muzzles of death, enveloped in a pall of smoke, to secure to us a national existence. Our armies, we have every reason to believe, are now in the midst of the fray, and inspired by the spirit of the hour, will render a good account of their Vicksburg anniversary Let us remember them, not as we remember our patriot sires, with simple emotions of gratitude, but let us accord that meed of sympathy and moral support which the day is so admirably calculated to awaken

British Frigate Stranded.—H. M. steamer Tribune, 22 guns, Lord Gilford, commander, stranded on the sand heads at the mouth of Frazer river recently, and must be totally dismantled before she can be got off, which is hardly probable then The gunboats Grappler and Forward, in endeavoring to relieve her both went ashore Nice place that for navigation by sea going craft

An Interesting Squabble —The British Columbia and Victoria papers are at loggerheads about their "mines" One gives utterance to a big yarn about new and great discoveries in their pet fields of Cariboo, and the other exposes the falsity of the statement The only thing upon which they unite is in decrying the wealth of the mines in this section of country.

From the Snake River Indian Expedition

Camp Maury Oregon,
June 21st 1863

Editor Oregonian

This expedition left Fort Dalles on the 20th of April, for the purpose of affording protection to the miners and prospectors in the region of the John Day country, and going as far south as the Lake Harney country

I wish to correct an erroneous impression that seems to have gone abroad in relation to the doings of the expedition the first fight is but the grand fight is to come off in the vicinity of the Lake about one hundred miles south east of this camp

Now the facts in the case are simply these That all the Indians which infested so much the country in the John Day country are to be found in the vicinity of this Camp as scouts sent out daily by Capt Small never fail to report finding plenty of signs of Indians in this locality and our expressman who has just arrived reports seeing where about 40 had crossed the river within the last twenty four hours and not ten miles distant Now for the strength of the command to be sent out of reach of all hostile Indians and leave only barely enough to furnish a guard for supplies at the depot, and the greater portion of them sick and wounded seems to look like anything else than the accomplishment of the object of the expedition, and spending time and money for nothing, whereas, if the command had remained in this locality and there had been a disposition upon the part of the Commanding Officer to have followed the Indians from the fight of the 18th ult in which one of the best officers in the regiment lost his life by not being properly supported then it would have looked like doing something for the good of the country and the advancement of civilization in one of the finest agricultural and mineral portions of the State But as matters are the expedition will doubtless return in the fall without having accomplished anything, besides incurring a vast amount of expense to Government and disgusting all good soldiers who wish to do their duty in the advancement of the greatest amount of good towards opening up a fertile country and adding to the vast amount of mineral wealth yet to be discovered in this part of the State which can never be done until the Indians are subdued or treated with

It would be very unsafe for small parties to travel through this country, as it is filled up with hostile bands of Indians, who would never let a party pass if discovered This summer's work should have put a quietus upon all hostilities in this section, and more especially as the time of the enlistment of the regiment will have expired about the 1st of December next except Company G commanded by Capt Small, which was organized last August, and the present depreciation of the currency will prevent any re enlistment

If the officer in command of this Department could have a command of about sixty men for duty in the field, the people of Oregon might anticipate a complete wiping out of the red devils, while the command is out in a country where Indians are hard to find, and somewhat like the animus of this command—not much on the fight

Capt Small has had the body of Lt Watson exhumed and placed in a metallic coffin sent out by the citizens of the Dalles and sends it in by the wagon train which leaves here on the morning of the 22d More anon

Co G, 1st Ogn Cav.

A Reminiscence —One year ago to-day, a party of immigrants camped on Green river en route for Oregon. Among them was a gentleman now engaged in business in this city, who attached to the heads of his horses miniature flags—the Star and Stripes—emblems of his loyalty. No sooner was this done than a majority of his traveling companions began cursing the "d—d Abolition rags" and swearing that they should be removed. The gentleman replied that he had been accustomed from childhood to raise the flag of his country on each return of the anniversary, and as it did not hurt any one, he should continue to do so. A few firm friends gathered around him, filing along on each side of the flags, with revolvers drawn and cocked, while the copperheads, who outnumbered the loyal party, and had drawn their pistols with loud threats first, continued their desperate—talk Thus the train proceeded for some time, the flags flying under a determined guard, until the copperheads finding that bluff did not accomplish anything, quietly retired, and let the flag remain waving over those who were born and hope to die under it.

National F. R. Association.—A correspondent writing from Oregon City, says A meeting was held at the M E Church, in that place, on Thursday evening, in aid of the National Freedmen's Relief Association, W C Johnson being called to the chair An address was delivered by C. H Brackett, Agent, and the most satisfactory explanations made A committee for this county, consisting of Rev C C Stratton, W A Starkweather, Charles Pope, Jr, Owen Wade and W C Johnson were appointed and a collection taken up. Another meeting will be held in August, in which Judge Williams, Gov Gibbs, Hon J H. Mitchell and others are expected to take part.

The citizens of the Dalles have already subscribed $2,000 toward fitting out the Canyon City Road Guard. The company is not yet filled up, and thus an opportunity is still presented for any who desire to indulge in a summer of rural excitement, and pay off the red skins for their cold blooded attrocities. We have no doubt but that the citizens of the Dalles and other places, will make up a very respectable bounty for those who enlist. There will be no impediment to their discharge at the end of four months' service

K. G C.—The Yreka Journal of June 22d is of the opinion that the Secessionists in that section of the State are bent on evil deeds It says

> We have a strong suspicion that there is an institution known as the Knights of the Golden Circle in Yreka, which meets twice a week at or near the old Catholic Church in that portion of the town on the western suburbs known as Dutchtown Early in the evening the members wend their way to this solitary wigwam one by one, to avoid suspicion, but after adjournment about midnight, when darkness spreads its mantle, they return to town in a body, whispering and chuckling over their deep laid schemes toward defeating the "Abolitionists" who refuse to acknowledge the Southern Confederacy We are sorry to say that this group comprises a mixture of Northern men, some of them from Yankee land, whose principles are so near to Jeff Davis that they form a ready fusion We have no doubt there are others in the country, secretly raising funds and plotting against loyal citizens

More Indian Murders in British Columbia —The Victoria Chronicle says that a party of eight men, on their way to Cariboo, were attacked by Indians on May 31st and three killed and four wounded—one escaped unhurt

It is not a little singular that the nearest relative to George Washington, now living, holds an important position in the rebel army, and that the only son of Zachary Taylor is also a leader in the enemy's ranks

During the past year, the Virginia lead mines, produced lead enough for ten millions of ounces balls, and this year the quantity will be doubled.

New York June 27 —The steamer Ariel from Aspinwall on the 17th has arrived

No news from the headquarters of the army Dispatches of the 25th at 6 o'clock, a m says the only fighting yesterday was an attack by the enemy on Burnside Whether intended as a feint to cover an important movement or attempt to break through our lines it proved a failure They opened a heavy fire, which was returned by our batteries The rebels making a charge were driven back in great confusion with a loss of 120 prisoners This occurred a 8 o'clock a m The artillery firing lasted an hour when all became quiet at that point of the engagement Between the 10th corps and the enemy in possession of the railroad, on Wednesday, the fight was severe particularly in front of the 2d division commanded by Wharton A short distance of the railroad had been destroyed, when our party were attacked by a heavy force of the enemy under Anderson supported by Wilcox's division Capt Beattie's force of the 3d Vermont charged the party and reached the road and fell back slowly while his skirmish line held the enemy in check, but Beattie made a flank movement, expecting the left flank was in the line of battle The rebels did not penetrate but succeeded in taking a number of skirmishers prisoners, principally of the 4th New York and 11th Vermont regiments The enemy afterwards advanced and attempted to break through the line at several points, but were driven back by a heavy fire from our forces with great loss They finally gave up the effort and retreating across the railroad took up a position on the bank. Our loss was light in killed and wounded, while the enemy suffered more than double ours We took a number of prisoners, but the figures cannot be correctly given now

Louisville, June 26 —On the morning of the 19th the rebel Gen Wharton, commanding a brigade of 2,500 men crossed the railroad near Kingston capturing and burning five light trains laden with supplies

A camp of rebel conscripts on the Hendersonville road six miles from Atlanta, Friday broke out four times They numbered 800 Six hundred got out, the remainder were captured by the rebels

The House yesterday resumed the consideration of the new enrollment bill, which contains provisions for the repeal of the commutation clause and authorizes the President to order a draft for not more than three years nor less than one year. The vote will probably be taken to day

New York, June 27 —The Tribune's army special says

Baldy Smith is holding a position near the Appomatox, within a mile of the city His line, stretching along the plain at right angles with the river, was attacked by the rebels on Friday morning, 6 o'clock, subjecting the 18th corps to an enfilading fire from heavy artillery, shortly after they opened a musketry fire, and a rebel force from the front advanced on our works there, their repulse was but the work of a few moments 165 were taken prisoners

The special dispatch to the Philadelphia Enquirer says

Yesterday afternoon the 6th corps made a movement to the left and reached the Weldon Railroad of which they destroyed five miles, after their accomplishment of this object they returned to their former position

The Times, of the 24th, says that Longstreet and Hill moved towards Weldon, having vacated their intrenchments during the skirmish of the morning

From prisoners it is ascertained that Beauregard's main army is now covering Petersburg, while Lee's forces are moving on the left

Deserters say that the shelling of Petersburg is very disastrous, also that the rebel army is constantly marching and counter marching to guard against expected attacks

A Fortress Monroe telegram says that in the attack on the 1st division of the 18th corps, the rebels were defeated with great loss, 400 deserters came in during the action

Sheridan with his command left White House on Friday

The World's special of the afternoon of the 26th says that our correspondent writes under date of yesterday morning as follows

We now permanently hold the Petersburg and Weldon Railroad south of Petersburg The 18th corps had a severe fight with Hill's corps and drove them back several miles we now hold the road we are now in an intrenched position, another important movement is in progress

The Herald's correspondent says it is reported that the force lately under the command of Polk arrived at Petersburg last Saturday

Under date of midnight, the 22d, the Herald's correspondent says

During last night the 6th corps moved to the left, and massed this morning near Williams house, Williams' and Kautz's cavalry having cut through the Weldon Railroad, orders were given to suspend operations in that direction, and swing to the left of the 2d corps and develop the enemy's works in front of Petersburg without regard to any connection The 6th corps, on the left of the principal portion of the troops, were soon moving to the front Gibbon's division was already in position and was intrenched having advanced as near the enemy's intrenchments as they could without hazarding an engagement Mott and Barlow pushed forward to the line of battle with a heavy skirmishing line Mott was partly in position and Barlow was approaching the crest in front of the rebel works when they encountered a heavy force of the enemy marching down column by column with the intention of piercing their position through the opening between the left of the 2d corps and right of the 6th corps The 2d 3d and 4th brigades of Barlow's division formed his front line the first brigade being held in reserve. In the assault the enemy the rebel Gen Wilcox led the advance with his veteran corps It was early in the afternoon when the head of the rebel column struck the right of the 6th and left of the 2d corps, the position occupied by these corps rendered it necessary that they should promptly withdraw the flanks exposed and [illegible] the existing gap making connection with each other along the line of entrenchments in the rear While this was being done the enemy inflicted [illegible] damage on our men by a murderous fire and captured several hundred prisoners

From [illegible] for the [illegible] Barlow and Mott were compelled to retire The rebels swept over the ground [illegible] by them and soon came upon [illegible] the left which suffered somewhat by the attack One regiment holds its position and with determined courage poured a murderous fire into the flying foe The musketry fire was terrific on all sides The enemy swept over the angle which marked the line and several pieces of artillery [illegible] advanced position and almost before the officers were aware of the situation of affairs the battery was practically in the hands of the enemy Our men held on [illegible] firing several rounds of canister until the enemy's [illegible] flag had been planted over the battery In the meantime Capt [illegible] battery which was posted in the front of the works [illegible] opened on the enemy which contributed considerably to check their further advance The rebels soon turned the captured guns upon us at the same time concentrated the fire of 20 other pieces on Capt Clark's battery While this active work was going on at the right of the corps a part of the rebels attacking column which had been deployed [illegible] was [illegible] pressing down upon the left [illegible] between 5th and 6th on the left of the 2d corps was gradually growing great [illegible] and exposed to the enemy We were slowly melting away when [illegible] brigade of [illegible] was held in reserve came up [illegible] One regiment was sent forward through the [illegible] while the remainder of the brigade [illegible] breastworks to fill the interval in [illegible] At the junction Rodgers battery opened their artillery The infantry soon checked the further progress of the enemy at that point

Scarcely had this disposition been effected when the rebels made an their attempt to press in the line a little to the right but the attack was successfully repulsed At 7 o'clock in the evening Gibbon with one brigade supported by another from the 6th corps attempted to retake the lost ground but after very sharp and spirited fighting they were foiled in their object

The Commercial's letter of the 25th says Foster's 10th corps has probably ere this attacked Chaplin's Bluff the capture of which will permit the erection of strong counter works to operate against Fort Darling A heavy line of entrenchments concentrating a sweeping fire on Drury's Bluff is evidently the design of Grant

Bank statements show an increase in loans of $1 300,000 decrease of specie $815,000, decrease of deposits, $10 670 000

A dispatch dated Charleston Va, June 25th, says it is reported by scouts and refugees that the rebel Gen McCousland, whom Hunter out flanked and defeated a few days since, is now at Lewisburg with 50,000 men

Morgan's command had reached Logan Courthouse in his retreat from Kentucky.

California News.

Marysville July 2 —The opposition steamer Washoe from San Francisco to Sacramento collided with the California Steam Navigation Co's steamer Yosemite at Benicia on their way up last evening The Yosemite struck the Washoe on the starboard bow, about 10 feet from the stem, cutting her down to the water's edge She was run on shore in a sinking condition The Yosemite was uninjured

Belle Boyd in Boston.—We announced yesterday the arrival of the British steamer Greyhound, captured as a blockade runner off Wilmington, North Carolina, by the United States steamer Connecticut, and that Miss Belle Boyd, the famous rebel spy, was on board She took passage on the Greyhound at Wilmington for Nassau, but the interposition of Uncle Sam's authority gave a destination to her voyage different from what she anticipated at the outset. Upon her arrival here she was politely waited upon by Marshal Keys and invited to take lodgings at the Tremont House until the pleasure of the Government shall be known respecting her disposition. She is accompanied by three servants—a white woman, a black girl and a black boy. She converses freely and well, and is evidently a female of intelligence and a quick understanding Her bearing during the passage—in act and speech—is described as strictly becoming and proper in all respects She entertains and expresses strong admiration and sympathy with the South, but not in offensive terms She thinks the pending contest between Lee and Grant will terminate the war in favor of the victor. These Generals she considers the two ablest officers in the country During the attack upon the Greyhound Miss Boyd came on deck, took a seat upon a bale of cotton and quietly set fanning herself and watching the explosions of the shells She is a tall well formed female, blond, and graceful in her manners There is much curiosity to see her, but the Marshal is so choice of his charge that few are gratified It is thought she will be paroled and Boston left without a Belle The captain of the Greyhound could not be found on Thursday but he will probably soon turn up.—Boston Post, May 21st

An Italian named Varisco has invented a trap for pick pockets It is light, may be easily placed in the coat pocket, and is so constructed as to hold the thief's hand as if in a vice The inventor has himself caught many of the light fingered gentry, by means of his trap, and has given them up to the Police of Milan.

A Sad Casualty —A sad affair occurred on Morrison street, in this city, on Saturday last, which has resulted in great injury to a little girl, daughter of A Rosenbaum, doing business at 113 First street. The child is about seven years of age and had left the father's store to go home, on Taylor street, between Third and Fourth, with a small parcel in her hand On Morrison street, within about four feet of the side walk, a farmer had left his wagon, and had tied his horses to the rear wheels while they were feeding out of the wagon box The inside animal stood very near to the walk, and happened to be a mare with a young colt The child was attracted with the colt, and stood for a moment, when the mare kicked, striking the child full in the face with both hind feet The little sufferer was picked up in a terrible condition, and medical attendance was immediately summoned, and yesterday it was thought she would live, but is very likely be disfigured for life We cannot too severely deprecate the habit of hitching horses, under such circumstances, where they can do damage It is a habit too often indulged, in an unthinking manner, and should be prevented

Ornamental —The verandah of the Temperance House, which is covered with a rich private collection of flowers, presents at present a magnificent appearance There is a beauty and glory in flowers that all admire, but few feel disposed to invest $20 pieces in them It is an enjoyment to the crowds that throng the street to look at these beautiful leaves and blossoms reminding them of gardens and pastures, when young they first learned to love the early gifts of spring We need not go to the vales of Cashmere nor Damascus for these beauties If we cannot have the little rivers bounding through our gardens, there is still water in abundance and sun enough, to give us, with little care, all we desire Let every family have its flowers its grape vines its grass plat—let the children be taught to care for and value them, so that their homes may be to them the most delightful place Some windows about the city are decorated with flower pots, indicating taste and refinement We should like to see attention to these pursuits universal.

Commissioner's Meeting —The County Commissioners meet for the transaction of business at the Court House, to morrow The board constitutes the following persons P A Marquam, County Judge and ex officio Commissioner, A C R. Shaw, H W Corbett The question of the commencement of the new Court House will probably come before the board and Mr Jno McCraken, President of the Common Council, Ira Goodnough and Israel Gradon form a special committee from the Council, to confer with the Commissioners in reference to the construction of a City Hall in connection with the Court House. We hope the project will meet with favor, as a City Hall is becoming quite necessary in Portland

Arrival of the Steamer Pacific —The steamer Pacific, A M Burns Commander, sailed from San Francisco on Tuesday last, the 28th June, at 11 o'clock a m, and arrived in Portland yesterday at 1 o'clock a m She brings about 150 tons of freight and the following passengers

Mrs V G [illegible]man [illegible] Brighton, J E Jamison wife and 3 children, Mrs L Crugar and children, Mrs H Mead, Mrs A [illegible] Con[illegible] Miss Kate Conal S W Lovi M Brown, A P Elfelt [illegible] Stuart James Smith, H B Sellers, E W [illegible] G W [illegible] P Oazallas, Miss Kate Powers, Mrs [illegible] Miss A Lamarge Miss M Mitchell [illegible] Miss S Hawe J F Meulham J P Mc[illegible] J Clark, A Colwell, G Burnbaum, [illegible] S Darling R Cordner, J L Connell, J A [illegible] (Wells Fargo & Co, a Messenger,) and 42 others

The Procession to the steamer Senator this morning to Vancouver, will be lead by Sedlak's Band, and will be composed of Company A, 1st regiment, [illegible] a delegation of the Portland [illegible] the Engine and Hose Cart of Columbia [illegible] No 3, which have been very handsomely [illegible] for the occasion, also, two or three of the [illegible] Societies will be represented The steamer leaves Vaughn's wharf at 8 o'clock, and will doubtless carry a large accession of visitors to our sister city We acknowledge the receipt of a polite invitation to [illegible] in the celebration—and we hope to be there

Across the River —On Saturday afternoon a small boat was procured from the bark Cambridge, lying at the North Portland saw mill, and an extra coil of telegraph wire put into it, when two stout men were placed at the oars, who pulled across the river, thus connecting the two banks of the Willamette by telegraph Pullies were ready to "heave" the line up, and the work was readily accomplished, without a break or mistake The line is "clear" 160 above the tide or stream To morrow the work will be commenced from the opposite side, and followed on to the Columbia.

The Stars and Stripes —To-day the Stars and Stripes will be floating from nearly every flag staff in the city, and their number is legion, but we are of the opinion none will show to better advantage than the one raised by Captain Clinton, on the East bank of the river, near his residence And none will be more novel than the one attached to the telegraph wire, which floats 160 feet above the surface of the Willamette, where the line crosses the stream All who attend the excursion and celebration to Vancouver, will pass under that flag.

The Canyon City Road Guard —Captain Olney advertises in another column of this paper for volunteers for his independent detachment for the protection of the Dalles and Canyon City road, against the depredations of Indians The citizens of the Dalles have subscribed liberally, and raised about $2 000 to apply in fitting out the expedition. All who wish to join are referred to the advertisement

School Examination at Vancouver.—The annual exhibition of the pupils attending the Holy Angel's College, Vancouver, took place on Friday last and premiums were awarded to the scholars according to merit The exhibition was diversified with specimens of elocution, music, and singing, by the pupils The next session of the college will commence on Monday, August 15th

The Delinquent Tax List —Sheriff Ladd has been engaged for several days past in compiling the tax returns of 1862—63, and completing a delinquent list to be surrendered to the Commissioners, in his final settlement with the County of Multnomah, upon retiring from office, the present week.

Pic Nic —We acknowledge the receipt of a courteous invitation to be present to day at a parade and pic nic, given by Companies B and C, State Militia, at the Gem Grove The Mechanic's Brass Band have been employed for the occasion, and a good time will certainly be had

Hibernians and Fenians —The members of the Hibernian Benevolent Society, and also of the Fenian Brotherhood, will meet at their Hall, at 7 o'clock precisely, to form in procession, and march to the steamer Senator, when they will embark for Fort Vancouver, to-day

Rain —Yesterday we were favored with a very refreshing shower of rain, which had a tendency to lay the dust, cool the atmosphere invigorate the constitution and supply customers to the Macadamized road

No Paper To Morrow —The printers in the various departments of the Oregonian establishment, feeling somewhat independent, have determined to celebrate the Fourth, consequently, there will be no paper issued from this office to morrow

Peach Plums—The first plums of the season have made their appearance at O'Connor & Sons, on First street, and at H Martin's on Front street. At the latter place a few samples of the peach plum were given us for a trial, and they are pronounced good

An Error —The Sanitary receipts acknowledged in Saturday's issue by Mr Holbrook, read from Oak Point $106 50 The correct amount was $196 50, was a typographical error

The Salutes —The National and Federal salutes will be fired by the Washington Artillery Company, from the plaza, to day At sun rise 13 guns, at 12 o'clock 34 guns and at sun set 13 guns

The steamship Pacific leaves for Victoria and San Francisco to morrow evening.

EASTERN NEWS.

New York June 2 —On Sunday night there was considerable skirmishing, and heavy artillery firing but nothing of importance is reported The demand for the surrender of Petersburg has been ... but our artillery have already shelled the place which is nearly deserted by its inhabitants

The Times special says An attack was made on ... which was quickly repulsed The rebels occupy an eminence near the town and it would be useless to waste life to attempt to take the town ... were dislodged when we would be able to ... shells among any force occupying the town The position we hold is very eminent ... the rebels as they admit

The Times special of the 13th says the bombardment of Petersburg is set down for the opening step in the ensuing week's operations Birney has his artillery in an excellent position at a range of from twelve hundred to fourteen hundred yards of the heart of the city and it is thought to morrow the shelling will commence provided the place does not previously surrender The arrival of Hunter with a force at White House together with Sheridan ... to this place to operate in our vicinity are officially announced

The Herald's correspondent from City Point the 19th says We have from rebel sources a report that Ewell's corps went against Hunter who left with the view to effect the capture of the Lynchburg and Danville Railroad which will be the only communication south left with the rebels The width of the track of this road differs from that of all others which will prevent the withdrawal of the rolling stock This road can easily be destroyed from Petersburg so that the rebel government will find Richmond held by a very slight tenure Thus the fall of Petersburg is virtually the surrender of Richmond

On the 17th Field's and Picket's divisions of Longstreet's corps charged Foster's line driving his left and centre back though repulsed on every other portion of the line Subsequently a part of the original line was lost but was regained to day

On the 19th the attack was renewed with infantry and artillery A portion of our centre was driven back but an advance was ordered and the enemy were driven off so now we hold the line triumphantly

The Eighth Army Corps correspondent writing on the 19th says Smith's command except Martindale's division have encamped in the neighborhood of Port Walthum Hancock's corps was repulsed by the enemy yesterday, when Burnside advanced and succeeded in driving them from their position

New York June 24 —The Herald's correspondent with Hunter on the 11th, says that the line of railroad between Charlottesville and Lynchburg has been destroyed effectually for two miles thus cutting in two the rebel forces in two places The Herald's James river correspondent of the 20th, says that the rebels have been shelled out of their position at Malvern Hills by the gunboat Agawam, and have located themselves out of range Three rebel rams came down early to Dutch Gap and were fired on by our Monitors. The rams steamed slowly back

A Herald's dispatch of the 21st says Yesterday morning at 4 o'clock Thompson's rebel cavalry, with artillery attacked the White House and continued the assault until 1½ o'clock P M Our loss was slight Sheridan's forces were arriving, and would participate in the engagement Gen Wilson with the cavalry was about 5 miles south of Prince George Court House to protect our left flank and rear Our pickets extend from the left of the infantry line to Blackwater Creek

New York June 23 —The Times special of the 30th says This morning Birney occupied a nearer position to the city—about 1,200 yards—and opened his batteries on the place For five hours he kept up a constant bombardment The effects of the shelling have not yet been ascertained Aside from the burning of some buildings, the rebels did not reply

Washington June 22 —Silas Woodson has been nominated as Chief Justice of Idaho in place of Sidney Edgerton who has been appointed Governor of Montana

U S Sanitary Commission
San Francisco June 22d 1864

To the Ladies Sanitary Aid Society, Portland, Oregon—Dear Ladies —I desire gratefully to acknowledge the receipt in gold coin of $629 from your earnest and patriotic Association, through Messrs Ladd & Tilton My absence from this city has delayed my reply but it has not cooled my gratitude The terrible battles through which our noble soldiers have lately been passing and which are even now in full career make the contributions of the people more necessary than ever God grant that your generous hearts may speedily be released from the necessity of beating so painfully with anxiety for our brave fellows—so many thousands of whom have already bitten the dust! My accounts from home are still encouraging The Government and the people are alike determined on absolute victory over our enemies! God I believe, is a party to this holy restoration! May he send us speedy and perfect triumph

Hoping still to see you before leaving this coast, I am gratefully and cordially yours for the cause, and the sick and wounded

The Ladies' National Covenant Hanging Fire —Washington correspondent of the 23d of May says

The Ladies' National Covenant does not make any headway in Washington It is asserted that the pledge not to purchase foreign goods which can be "conveniently" dispensed with in reality includes nothing at all, for all the women find that it is inconvenient to go without the articles which they have been in the habit of purchasing I hear of none in the city who have stopped their spring purchases of foreign goods In Congressional circles it is believed that a more certain remedy exists in the passage of a new tariff bill doubling the present rates of duties Tariff and anti tariff men advocate some such measure as this simply as a part of the war policy Mr Chase as is well known urges still higher rates of taxation—higher than any which have yet received the assent of Congress It is simply a question between still further inflation and heavier taxation

The British Museum, established about a hundred and ten years ago, cost the British nation $16,695,895, of which sum less than $4 615 115 was absorbed in salaries and $12,020,770 in the maintenance and extension of buildings The whole sum expended on manuscripts, books, natural history, collections &c, was $...,200 650

A watch consists of 992 pieces and in making it 23 trades and about 200 persons are employed A remarkable instance of labor in augmenting the value of raw material is afforded by the balance spring of this instrument One farthing's worth of iron will make 7 650 balance springs, the market value of which is about $4,000

Modern Improvements —If we purchase a house to live in we are sure to want all the modern improvements —and, in a less ending scale in all our purchases we want the same This fact applies with peculiar force to that important accessory to a household of the present day—a sewing machine When our fair readers need the use of these they want one that combines with the modern improvements —they want to see how well one goes with the machine ... would be satisfied to make their dresses on the machine and then slowly put on the embroidery by hand ... not they, for with Grover & Baker's Celebrated Machine they can do both and with an ease and rapidity astonishing to behold —New York ... gelist

Complaints of Children —In the case of fast growing and scrofulous children predisposed to curvatures and other deformities it is often disagreeable to give a tonic without stimulants and an alterative without irritation For such it would be impossible to select a preparation combining so many of the above advantages as the PERUVIAN SYRUP

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters —The operation of this palatable remedy upon the stomach liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative It regulates recruits and purifies them Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties and it is recommended to mothers, enfeebled by the cares and duties of maternity, as the safest and best tonic they can probably use In all the crisis of female life it will be found eminently useful, and elderly persons will derive much more benefit from it than from ordinary stimulants.—Sold by all Druggists and Dealers everywhere ap26d1m

In every age of the World, the professions have been slow to admit the value of new discoveries or the expediency of adopting them in practice It is not to the legal profession that we look for reforms in jurisprudence neither do we find the advocates of medical reform among physicians Each deprecates whatever is found to innovate upon received opinions and established usage Hence the opposition which medical men too often exhibit to the use of private remedies, whatever their acknowledged value or great efficiency in the cure of disease. No medicine has ever done more for the relief of human suffering than Dr Osgood's India Cholagogue The certainty with which it cures Fever and Ague, and eradicates bile from the system is acknowledged by all

Be particular to enquire for Dr Osgood's India Cholagogue and take no other Sold everywhere

Our Heroes

The fighting on Friday was the most desperate known in modern times —Dispatch to General Dix

Oh Earth! upon thy blood-stained breast
The brave [illegible]
And [illegible] hearts [illegible]
And [illegible]
In mingled [illegible]
Love keeps [illegible]
They died—[illegible]

The tenderest of the [illegible] sheaf,
Death has gathered [illegible]
The [illegible] with [illegible] prayers
(A shield [illegible])—
The gay [illegible] who could not dream
In lettered ease [illegible]
That [illegible] cause
Each patriot [illegible] was feeling

His snow white [illegible] shall lead
Amid the thickest slaughter!*
He fell [illegible]
Its crims[illegible]
Oh Earth! what seed [illegible] to bloom
From fields thus [illegible] cherished
Not all in vain, not all [illegible]
These noble ones have perished

Our martyred heroes [illegible] in vain
Upon our country's altar
Such will [illegible] wealth! [illegible]
What heart [illegible] falter
When [illegible] are witnessed
Beyond the starry portals
Of [illegible] the [illegible]
When armed by the Immortals

They charge us from these solemn heights
From fields the [illegible] watered
From homes where pallid women weep
For household idols slaughtered
From battle trenches where they sleep,
From graves all dark and lonely
They charge us— Keep the sacred soil
For freedom's footstep only

*General Wadsworth was always in the front, under the hottest fire It was ever counted a fault in him—this rash exposure of his person but it encouraged his men who knew that his white head was always in the thickest of the fight, and that he never said to them "Go," but always "Come"

Hospital Incidents —A writer from one of the hospitals of the Army of the Potomac, thus discourses

Coming out from church in the morning, we found a line of ambulances going down the street A driver told me that they had just left a hundred "bully boys" at Judiciary Square hospital Do you think the adjective a coarse and vulgar one? Go anywhere from Pleasant Hill—what sting and satire there is in the name!—go anywhere from the banks of the Red river—forevermore coursing blood ily through our memories!—anywhere from Alexandria to Spottsylvania, and see how it is refined and sanctified by the men who battle for us, and you will be ready to do as I did—follow the leading I went to the hospital In one of the wards I found a man, or rather he found me—for I marked him as a reserved man, while I passed, who would choose to be left to his own thought But he called to me— "I say, you're a Yankee" It seems that my dozen years of knocking about the world have not worn off all the marks of nativity yet though I had flattered myself that I was grown a cosmopolite So I told this soldier "I knew you because I'm a Yankee too" was his answer—which I pass over to students of mental organism I found him a man from Maine He had a bad flesh wound on one arm and one leg was off just above the knee "Don't mind the leg, but tell me about Sheridan's raid" I read Secretary Stanton's telegram relative to it "O I tell you, we'll fetch 'em yet! Old Lee'll find what 'tis to come to judgment, before he gets through with it, I guess, in a way he didn't look for Go down by that room and read that to that man on the right" That was my dismissal, and I went

"The man on the right," I found to be a Boston notion, red of hair, freckled of face, blue of eye square of chin, broad of nostril, in a word not a man with whom Araminta would fall in love at first sight, but a man whom Susan Jane would idolize as the hero of a romance "Mornin'," was his answer to my salutation—terse and pointed as possible What could I say to one who cut me off in that way? While I stood an instant he made an inventory of my—I felt he was passing judgment as only a man can whose wits have been sharpened by long experience at picket duty Suddenly he opened his large eyes to their widest, and said—"What's the news?" I saw that one arm was gone above the elbow, and I judged there was a body wound some where, and I knew by the working of his forehead that he was in pain I own this question astonished me I briefly summed up the morning papers for him Then as I saw he was in extreme pain, I made a remark about his arm, and asked if I could do anything for him For answer I got, "O damn the arm! what's the difference if we only lick the rebels!" We had further talk, and I found him a hero from head to foot—every quarter inch of his five feet nine His parting word was "Somewhere you'll find a youngster with a hole in his leg—he's kind of pugnosed boy, with white hair, but he's got the grit—I know him, and he came up in the ambulance with me, please get him an orange or two if you find him, and cheer him up—he's a little down in the gills this morning, but he'll be all right in a day or two" Yes, he will be all right in a day or two, for he will be where pain and death never come

The Pathfinder —The Stockton Independent, in referring to the position in which Fremont has placed himself by his late letter accepting the Cleveland nomination, handles the factious nominee without gloves. It says

His insolent letter of acceptance has placed a river as flaming and impassible as the Styx between himself and all true patriots He the weak extravagant fool who wasted every month on fine feathers and bodyguards more than the yearly wages of the President to prate of public extravagance in the Administration! is simply the whine of an idiot and will be so universally regarded He who never for a month at a stretch could live in harmony with his brothers in the army or his own party in politics is a beautiful duck to talk of Americanizing the continent and welding all antagonisms into one harmonious whole He has neither the temper nor the breadth of intellect to fit him as President of a republic as large as Hayti He is essentially a factionist—of the dark Robespierrean sort who would lend himself to any work of public destruction in order to achieve personal distinction The men of this nation understand and quietly ostracise him and his kind When the men cast him off the poor creature essays to be a leader among querulous old women With such a staff and kitchen Cabinet he essays the Administration and distributes the dregs and sc[illegible] of his shallow brain throughout the land for mischief He will not get a corporal's guard to vote in any State of the Union and they who do support him are in our opinion not a whit wiser or better than that other sort of fanatics and traitors who support Jeff Davis Indeed the Davis set have the advantage in not following a positive fool as well as a man of dark and damning ambition

Patriotic Birds —A Boston paper tells this little bird story

A pair of robins whose twitter enlivens the groves of Newburyport have manifested their love for the "land of their birth" and their loyalty to the Union by weaving into the fabric of their nest for this season a paper copy of the American flag, red white and blue, and inserted beneath it a brass thimble in an upward like an armor doubtless to serve for its defense The nest we are sorry to say was robbed of four eggs and knocked from its perch by some mischievous boys

Pompeii is to day surrounded on every side by a large cotton and similar plantations occupy the neighborhood as far as Castellumare and Salerno

British Statistics —Giving round numbers and Federal currency, for convenience the British expenditure for this year $[illegible] less than last will be $3[illegible],000 000 and the revenue $[illegible] The increase on the public debt is $140 000 000 The exports and imports have increased from $1,8[illegible] 000 000 in 1861 to $2,22[illegible] 000 000 in 18[illegible] The exports are something [illegible] and the regular increase of trade and revenue for three years in spite of the cotton famine is certainly remarkable Mr Cobden claims it for free trade and wishes English diplomatists to be instructed in its principles so that they can preach it in Spain and Russia He did not say America though his thoughts may have wandered in that direction A large portion of the revenue of the United Kingdom comes from beer and spirits The beer drunk in England and Wales only costs $5,000 000 a year In Scotland and Ireland they drink little beer but too much whiskey The average for men women and babies is in England and Wales $1 a year for spirits and $1 25 for beer in Scotland $5 for spirits and 1 35 cents for beer in Ireland, $2 for spirits and 25 cents for beer This is a hard story for Scotland but I believe the figure to not be The Scotch drink more beer than the Irish and more than twice the quantity of whisky not reckoning the illicit distillation and poisonous adulterations which are practised to a wretched extent in all three of the kingdoms The whole quantity of imported and excised spirits consumed in the United Kingdom in 1860 was 27 000 000 of gallons imported wines, 5,700 000 gallons and we drink 77,000,000 pounds of tea, and smoke and snuff 35 000 000 pounds of tobacco —London Correspondence.

Blood will Tell —When the rebel soldiers resolved to take no black prisoners, they designed to intimidate both the Government and the black soldiers We feel thankful that they are likely to fail in both counts The Government will undoubtedly stand by its colored soldiers, and fully redress their wrongs But whether the Government does or no the negro is not to be intimidated Besides arousing greater devotion to the cause, there is danger of stirring up those frenzied acts of vindictiveness which mark the history of St. Domingo Hereafter during this war the negro soldiers will express their feelings in deeds, not words As for the white officers the following resolution—one among many adopted by the Second U S (colored) Heavy Artillery—will show the spirit which animates them

Resolved, That, as officers commanding colored troops in the service of the Union, we now know our doom if we are captured by our enemies but that so far from being intimidated thereby we accept the issue, and adopt as our significant motto, "Victory or death"

We hope the Government will dilly dally no more on this subject but put into action retaliatory measures after every battle where colored troops take white prisoners Let them be left to the fate soldiers may vote them and no questions be asked A little colored constitutional hanging or shooting will settle the question the quickest, and save lives on both sides in the end Let John Brown's soul march on

Fast Drifting Toward War —The news from Europe by the Persia is of deep significance Following close in the track of the Austro-Prussian squadron, which was making its way toward the Baltic, a British frigate, under command of Sir L McClintock, had set sail, it is said, as the first of a British fleet which will oppose the entrance of the German men-of-war into the sound The English press, almost without exception, is agreed that considerations, not only for the honor, but for the material interest of England now require that her naval power shall be exerted to bar the entrance of the Baltic to the Austrian force, and to prevent any additional pressure being brought to bear upon Denmark The step thus tardily taken, or about to be taken (as is alleged) by the British Government, has almost the effect of a declaration of war, it is an act of direct hostility toward one of the belligerents, and in that character it will be hailed with delight by the whole nation, with but one exception—that exception the most important one that could be named The Queen no longer takes sides secretly with the German despoilers The most inveterate and astute of the prime movers in the invasion of Denmark, the Baron Beust, is specially singled out for the hospitalities of the Court at Osborne, while the second son of the Queen is ordered to Berlin to be the recipient of the hospitalities of the Prussian sovereign, and to accept the questionable honor of decorations at his hand This defiance by the Queen of the public opinion of the nation has called forth protests such as have not been before heard since the commencement of the present reign, and which will as surely hasten a crisis in the relations of the people of England and of the empire toward the reigning sovereign Another crisis also appears to be fast approaching —New York Times, 10th

The Youthful Lee —The Copperhead journals have displayed such an art and persistence in glorifying the character and talents of Gen Robert E Lee that not a few loyal men have been persuaded that his military genius is only exceeded by the noble qualities of his heart Those numerous orders in which the Rebel Chief has thanked the Almighty for a Satanic success, have contributed to the maintenance of this delusion As for military genius the Copperheads say McClellan out-generaled Lee on the Peninsula and whipped him in Maryland and the world has made up its opinion of McClellan Unquestionably the rebel chief was baffled by Hooker's manoeuvres and defeated by Meade during the campaign which culminated at Gettysburg As for this rebel's regard for truth and his alleged modesty read his congratulatory order to his army issued after the defeat of the 12th of May and the success of Sheridan's raid Even the rebel journals admitted that Lee's army was disastrously defeated on the 12th and he confessed as much by evacuating his position and retreating to the North Anna This order proves that Lee stands upon the same level in contempt for truth with Beauregard, Johnston and others who are engaged in maintaining a usurpation which was originally based on falsehood —Sac Union

Certificate of Dr Hayes.

It is well known that the medicinal effect of Protoxide of Iron is lost by even a very brief exposure to air, and that to maintain a solution of Protoxide of Iron without further oxidation has been deemed impossible

In the Peruvian Syrup this desirable point is attained by COMBINATION IN A WAY BEFORE UNKNOWN and this solution may replace all the proto-carbonates citrates and tartrates of the Materia Medica A A HAYES M D

IODINE WATER.

Iodine water is the most important discovery of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to over-estimate its influence as a remedial agent Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system It is to act upon the

LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation it remained almost useless, until Dr Henry Anders a physician and chemist of New York after years of patient labor and experiment discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve

without a solvent. This, considered impossible by the scientific world is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr. J R Chilton of this city and Prof Booth U S Mint, Philadelphia The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals and its use recommended to practitioners (see "American Medical Monthly" July 6, 1856, page 76)

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms Consumption, Cancer Heart Liver and Kidney Diseases Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine The patient recovers flesh, strength and color hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and florid
